

Scott Schneider
Partner
Husch Blackwell

Scott is a prominent litigator as well as a sought-after advisor on Title IX, labor and employment law issues, and various risk management concerns. He has also handled various high-profile program reviews of institutional response to sexual misconduct, racial discrimination, handling at-risk employees and students, etc. Additionally, Scott is an award-winning professor at Tulane University, where he teaches on higher education and labor and employment law and created the Tulane University Law School's Title IX certification program. Scott has been retained by the National Center for Campus Public Safety to serve as a faculty member for its Trauma-Informed Sexual Assault Investigation and Adjudication training program for campus officials. Scott also serves on the faculty for the State University of New York's Student Conduct Institute where he provides training on informal resolution and restorative justice.